Dear [redacted]

While you were making complimentary remarks about the cooperation of others in working with you to prepare the Law of the Sea paper, it is obvious that you kept your "cool" and set a tone by your example and leadership which accomplished successfully a difficult and arduous task. I want to thank you for it, especially as I understand it took you away from your normal duties.

I am all the more appreciative of your work on this project at a time when there were family concerns. My condolences to you and your wife on the passing of her mother. My prayers and those of your colleagues join in supporting you and [redacted].

Yours,
